Title:	God, I Have Issues
Subtitle:	50 Ways to Pray No Matter How You Feel
Author(s):	Mark E. Thibodeaux, SJ
Book Description:	Wherever you are, God wants to meet you there. God, I Have Issues offers 50 practical ways to turn the full range of human experience that we carry—anger or gratitude, loneliness or love, doubt or delight—into honest, life-giving prayer. With warmth, wisdom, and gentle humor, Jesuit priest Mark E. Thibodeaux helps bring your life—your fears and failures, your relationships and responsibilities, your ordinary frustrations and unexpected joys—before God. Designed to be opened wherever you need it most, each entry begins with Scripture and includes a short reflection, related Bible passages, concrete Prayer Pointers, and memorable Words to Take with You. These accessible prayer starters will help you slow down, speak with God, and listen for the Spirit at work in your heart. Come as you are. Whatever the issue, God is already waiting.
Author Bios:	Mark E. Thibodeaux, SJ, is an acknowledged expert on prayer and discernment. For ten years, he served as the director for Jesuits in formation, and he is currently the pastor of Holy Name of Jesus Parish in New Orleans, Louisiana. He is the author of several books, including Reimagining the Ignatian Examen, Ignatian Discernment of Spirits for Spiritual Direction and Pastoral Care, and Discern: Listening for God's Whispers.
