BARRIS BOOKS

From collaborators Brandt Ricca and Matt Miller

In each book we encounter obstacles with Barris as he faces adversity in a variety of situations and people. In his dream worlds you'll meet magic, witches and other unique characters that relate to his life.

FOUND at the top of a tall green house was the dream universe of Barris Hart. New Orleans, Louisiana is the setting for the Hart family and the realities they encounter, and diverse dream worlds reside.

I'm Gracie, a Keeper, and Barris' guide through his dream worlds, and your guide in the series. Keepers monitor the dreams of sleeping children until they are ten years old, before they lose their childish enthusiasm.

Get lost in our adventures, meet the family that Barris calls home and more importantly remember what Mrs. Hart, Barris' colorful mother, always says: "Oh fiddly dee, isn't it all just so romantic? Life, all of it?"

The Collaborators

Brandt Ricca (author) and Matt Miller (illustrator) deliver a new fantasy series, for 3rd grade and up, that aids children on how to navigate all the many things life throws their way.

Both LGBTQ+ entrepreneurs in marketing and design, the collaborators deliver a series that showcases diversity, inclusion and problem solving with a creative spin. Dream worlds, sparks of inspiration, shadow witches, New Orleans and more provide an imaginative backdrop for their storytelling.

"I loved the way Barris' fantasy world connects to his real-life problems—something all kids (and adults can relate to). The dream world is vivid, the language whimsical, and the problems Barris is trying to figure out are just like his readers'. With a touch of his mother's French, the books have that New Orleans flavor without overwhelming the story. A great fantasy series for reluctant readers—I recommend it."
