A Champion for Working People
Union Members Stand Strong for Maryam Khan

[Hartford, CT] - Labor unions representing over 100,000 (or tens of thousands of) working people - including people working in critical fields such as healthcare, childcare, education, and the public sector - announced today their endorsement of Maryam Khan for Senate District 2, citing her unwavering commitment to working people, public services, and an economy that works for everyone.

Throughout her time in public service, Khan, representing Connecticut's 5th District in the State House of Representatives since 2022, has earned a reputation as a leader who listens to workers and translates their concerns into action. She has stood with labor on issues ranging from fair wages and workplace protections to investments in education, health care, and child care — understanding that strong communities depend on a strong, respected workforce.

In a time when working families are being crushed by rising costs and stagnant wages, Khan's long history of supporting policies that prioritize working families, not the ultra-wealthy and corporations, sets her apart. Her leadership reflects the values voters are looking for: substance over soundbites and results over rhetoric.

Union members are proud to stand with Maryam Khan and look forward to engaging fellow union members and voters as Election Day approaches.
